W. D. HINES REFUSES TO GRANT WAGE INCREASES

DANIELS DECLARES THAT ADMIRAL SIMS SLURRED U. S. NAVY IN REGARD MORALE

Secretary Appears Before the Smelling Committee in His Defense.

STATES HIS SIDE OF HONOR MEDAL AWARDS

Lawrence and Sigsbee Cited as Commanders Who Lost Their Ships at Sea.

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Charging that Admiral Sims had slurred the navy and offered "an insult to the splendid men of the navy," Secretary Daniels today appeared before the senate sub-committee investigating naval awards and offered a lengthy and comprehensive defense of his action in bestowing decorations.

"It is an insult to the splendid men of the navy to say that the morale of the service could be seriously impaired by any question of awards to individuals," Secretary Daniels said. "The morale of the navy has suffered from the same influences that have affected the whole country, which has not yet recovered from the shell-shock of war."

Secretary Daniels in an indirect way charged Admiral Sims with being a "shore going" sailor, and declared that the greatest difference between them had been as to the relative importance of shore duty and sea duty. Secretary Daniels declared that if Admiral Sims' contention that men who lost their ships in action were not deserving of honor was sound, that the nation has been paying tribute to men like Lawrence and Sigsbee, who should not have been honored.

Secretary Daniels declared that Admirals Mayo, Gleaves and Grant had recommended distinguished service medals for commanders who were torpedoed and who in the most trying hour had shown distinguished service. He made this statement in answer to the attack recently by Admiral Sims that Daniels had awarded a medal to his brother-in-law, Commander Bagley, who lost his ship by an enemy torpedo.

The secretary declared he was surprised to find how few officers of the reserve and the North Sea Barrage squad had been recommended for high honor. He said he had ordered a thorough investigation of all who should receive honors and he hopes that in the three years provided by law for the settlement of all these cases no deserving person will be overlooked.

Two U. S. Flyers Held by Mexicans

(International News Service.) DOUGLAS, Ariz., Feb. 3.—Army headquarters of the Arizona district today are investigating the holding by Mexican authorities of two American aviators who were forced to land on Mexican soil. The men—Lieuts. Usher and Wolff—were flying from El Paso to Nogales, Ariz., and landed near Nacari, 80 miles south of here. Engine trouble forced their landing and it is said the planes were badly wrecked because of rough spots in the landing field.

Payments of Back Polls Biggest Ever

Payment of back polls in Morgan County this year broke all records, Tax Collector Charles Robertson stated today. A total of $5,900 in back polls was received into the county treasury. Two thousand straight polls were paid, which is considered an excellent showing due to the fact that nearly one thousand exemptions will be granted under the provisions of the poll tax amendment passed by the voters in December.

PORTER M. BRINDLEY SHOT TO DEATH AND SLAYER GETS AWAY

Morgan County Representative in Alabama Legislature Killed by Hartselle Man in the Attorney's Office on Monday Afternoon

SHOOTING REPORTED TO HAVE FOLLOWED DISPUTE OVER BILL

Roberson Believed to Have Walked to Flint and Boarded the Birmingham Accommodation to Albany. Chase Fails to Net Trace of Fugitive.

The search for Dr. F. Solon Roberson, optician, alleged to have shot to death Porter M. Brindley, prominent Hartselle attorney and Morgan County representative in the legislature, was shifted to Albany-Decatur today. Officers picked up Roberson's trail here last night when the fleeing optician arrived at the Albany depot on the Birmingham accommodation. He caught the blind-baggage at Flint, after walking there from Hartselle and dropped off the train on the west side of the platform, officers were informed. He headed westward.

Sheriff J. V. May, who was watching the train at the Decatur station, and Deputy Halbrooks immediately obtained an automobile and hunted in West Albany to the Bussey farm on the Moulton pike, without finding another trace of the fugitive.

A tip received by Sheriff May this morning stated a man answering Roberson's description applied at a local boarding house for room and board, but a visit to the house failed to locate him.

Local officers adhere to the belief that Roberson will lose no time in getting out of Albany-Decatur and all trains are being watched and every effort put forth to apprehend the fugitive today.

The shooting which cost the life of the Morgan County solon began at 4:15 o'clock in Brindley's office. It was preceded by an altercation between the two men on the street, near the stairway leading to the office of the attorney, said to have started over a statement of account rendered the attorney for glasses fitted for Brindley's wife. According to rumors here, the statement had not been settled and it is reported the "lie" was passed and Roberson followed Brindley into the latter's office and began shooting in a few moments.

Roberson shot three times, according to the best information available, one shot entering the attorney's breast from the front and coming out under his arm; the other two shots being from the back, one entering near the kidney and the other in the neck. Roberson used a 38 Smith and Wesson revolver.

Brindley lived but 15 minutes. Medical aid was summoned immediately and every effort to save the lying man was made by Dr. John Sherrill and Dr. R. D. Sherrill. Brindley never spoke.

Miss Elsie Benton, the deceased's stenographer, was out of the office at the time, but the shooting was witnessed by L. O. Waldsmith, an uncle of Mrs. Brindley, who has declined to make any statement of the affair.

Roberson Seen Once Following the shooting, Roberson left the office and was seen to pass along Main street, where a basketball game was being played. Participants had not heard of the shooting and the defendant was not molested. It was the last trace officers found of Roberson in Hartselle. A dragnet was thrown out immediately by officers and hastily organized posses began a search of woods and outlying settlements in an effort to apprehend the fugitive. Roads are in such a condition it was not believed Roberson could escape in an automobile or other vehicle and a close watch is being maintained over all outbound trains, north and south.

May Be Unbalanced According to reports received here, Roberson may be mentally unbalanced. Several days ago, it is said, he walked into the People's drug store at Hartselle and picked up a ticket which had been placed on sale for a civic entertainment, and walked out of the store. The following day he was asked about the ticket and paid for it.

Mr. Brindley, for many years had been a prominent attorney of Morgan County and in the legislative race two years ago polled a flattering vote.

The body was removed yesterday afternoon to the Corbie undertaking establishment, just across the street from Brindley's office, where it is being prepared for burial today.

Roberson's home was in Mount Hope, but he moved to Hartselle last fall and opened an office. Previous to that he had served for several years with the American army in the Philippines. He was unmarried and resided with his sister, Mrs. Belle Sherrill, who was overcome by the shock and was in a serious condition today.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock from the Baptist church at Hartselle, following which the remains will be conveyed to the family burial ground at Gum Springs, eight miles east of Hartselle, for interment.

Mr. Brindley is survived by his wife, two sons, two daughters, his mother, who is 79 years of age, and by six brothers.

GRONNA ROMPS ON WHEAT CONTROLLER

SENATOR CHARGES THAT FARMER OVERLOOKED IN FIXING PRICE OF CEREAL

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Characterizing the wheat market as an orgy of speculation, Senator Gronna of North Dakota, chairman of the senate agricultural committee, charged that "everything done by the food administration in the control of the wheat situation was in favor of the middleman and to the detriment of the farmer."

Senator Gronna referred to secret testimony by wheat controller Barnes before the senate agricultural committee.

"I have never made that testimony public, but am prepared to do so now," Gronna said. "Barnes predicted that the wheat price would go down as soon as the foreign embargo was lifted. Barnes was given authority, through Hoover and the food administration, and the law to purchase wheat at a minimum price. He was given no authority to fix the sale price. This he did, through his licensing system, which gave aid to foreigners and little relief to the people of this country."

NEW PRESIDENT OF HOWARD COLLEGE DELIVERS SERMON AT FIRST BAPTIST

Dr. Charles Williams Speaks on the Fatherhood of God Sunday.

PARABLE RELATED TO SHOW TRUST IN FATHER

Love Should Reign Throughout Life, the Noted Scholar Declares.

A beautiful prose poem story of a lonely boy riding all day in a prairie train, closed the scholarly sermon of Dr. Chas. B. Williams, the newly elected president of Howard College, when he preached from the pulpit of the First Baptist church of Decatur Sunday morning. As stated by T. M. Dixon, the smallness of the congregation present, the coming of Dr. Williams was not known in time to get an announcement in the paper and otherwise notify the people. But a goodly number was in attendance and there were many expressions of appreciation for the message of the distinguished visitor.

Dr. Williams, who, since his youth, which is not far in the past, has been a recorded minister of the Baptist church, has spent most of his time as an educator, and since his college training has held numerous high positions in college work. Upon the resignation of Dr. James M. Shelborne, as president of Howard College, Birmingham, the trustees after more than a year of search finally settled on Dr. Williams as the man best suited to succeed Dr. Shelborne.

As an illustration of the proper attitude of believers toward life and its ultimate ending on this earth, at the close of his sermon Dr. Williams told the following story: "One time there was an overland train leaving Omaha, Neb., for Cheyenne. As it pulled out into the open prairie country of the great lonely West, the passengers, some in their Pullmans, some in day coaches, settled down for an endurance test of their strength and nerves against the long journey that was before them."

"As the train drew farther and farther into the West, those who looked out of the windows, saw no trees or villages, but only the sunshine and prairie dog towns as the train continued on its long journey. Finally some turned to their lunch baskets or went to the dining car for refreshments. There was one little boy who sat alone. He did not have anything to eat and one kind lady asked him about himself. She asked him if he were not tired, and if he were not hungry. But the boy replied, 'no' that he was not tired or hungry."

"You see," he told the woman, "my father has promised to meet this train at Grand Island depot at 5 o'clock. Then he will take me up to our home and we will have supper with mother and all the family, so I am not tired or hungry."

"What a parable that story seemed to me, when I read it, on life and how we should look upon our pilgrimage through this world," continued the speaker. "Why our Father is going to meet us. He is going to meet us! Oh the Fatherhood of God, means all of this to me, does it to you?" were the last words of the sermon.

Implications of Duty Following his scholarly discourse on the reasonableness of the concept of God, as being the spiritual father of all true believers, Dr. Williams spoke of three or four duties incumbent upon professed Christians. First, he said that "Our Father as revealed by Christ, merits our love. Some earthly parents are hardly worthy of love," but our heavenly father deserves more love than we can give Him. And we should tell Him that we love Him."

The speaker said that love should reign throughout life, but especially in

DRIVING MAIL PLANE IS LESS HAZARDOUS THAN STEERING AUTO IN N. Y., SAYS CAPTAIN GLASGOW

That piloting a U. S. mail aeroplane is less hazardous than driving an automobile in New York, is the statement of Capt. F. H. Glasgow, formerly of Huntsville, who is now here for a visit to his uncle, J. W. Weaver, of the Albany Brown Works.

Capt. Glasgow drives one of the big De Havilland 4's that carries the mail from New York to Washington, and makes the trip every other day. The distance is 348 miles and the time required is 92 minutes without stops. The letter bags are dropped into nets at Trenton and Baltimore, and the birdmen speed on. At Philadelphia a 1 minute stop is made.

Although only 21 years of age, Capt. Glasgow has been in Uncle Sam's service for three years. Enlisting in the coast artillery he later was transferred to the motor corps, and in this capacity was stationed at Le Mans, where he drove a car that carried an American general who liked to be up front with his men. His service won him another promotion, and he was given a chance to fly and made good.

Although he has spent 12 weeks in the hospital, Capt. Glasgow has sustained no serious injuries. He was painfully burned by an explosion during the trans-continental air derby while making repairs on the motor driven by Lieut. Fitzgerald.

Discussing the aerial mail service, Capt. Glasgow said today: "The government is contemplating the establishment of an aerial mail route from Nashville to Atlanta on March 4, contingent upon the necessary appropriation from congress. If this is done, it is quite possible that the Twin Cities will be on this route. However, the mail would likely be dropped into nets and no stops made."

Stump Puller is Used Get Truck Out Morgan Mud

FALKVILLE, Ala., Feb. 3.—A large Packard 5-ton truck which passed through here recently, had a most laborious and tedious task to get as far as Collins, on its trip from Akron, to Birmingham. The condition of the roads were at their worst when the truck passed here. It made the mountain about 6 miles south of here when it stuck, and for more than two days an effort was made to prize out. A unique method was devised to get out. A gentleman who lived near the scene of the trouble owned a stump puller which operated with a pulley. This was used, and by slow degrees the large truck was gotten on terra firma and made the hill.

Mrs. Stokes Arrested For Syndicalism

(International News Service.) Jitlow, who is facing a charge of criminal anarchy. The arrest followed the receipt of a telegram from Chicago stating that Mrs. Stokes had been indicted there for criminal syndicalism on January 28.

NEWBERRY DEFENSE ATTEMPTS MAKE HENRY FORD AN ISSUE

Government Presents Its Case As Election Fraud Trial Gets Under Way.

(International News Service.) GRAND RAPIDS, Feb. 3.—Prominent mention of the name of Henry Ford by the defense in the trial of Senator Newberry and his 122 co-defendants is awaited in Judge Session's court room as the government closes its opening attack by a series of hot verbal volleys fired into the massed ranks of the respondents charged with winning the 1918 senatorial election by conspiracy and fraud. Well into the morning session, assistant attorney general Frank C. Dailey, concluding the government's opening bombardment, continued to rip open what he termed the Newberry barrel campaign.

The invitation of President Wilson asking Ford to make the senatorial race and a contrasting of the war records of Ford and Newberry will be brought up early in the opening statement of the defense, it was anticipated. Observers also looked for an early effort to clear Senator Newberry of the conspiracy allegations in the hope of thus downing the entire government case. All allusions to the merits of the two leading candidates in the campaign—Henry Ford and Senator Newberry—brought strong objections from the government, most of which were upheld by the court.

DIRECTOR GENERAL HOWEVER SUBMITS NEW PROPOSITIONS TO RAILROAD MEN

Three Alternatives Are Suggested as Basis of An Adjustment.

DETAILS ARE WITHHELD UNTIL LATER IN DAY

Representatives of Brotherhoods Entered Conference at 11 o'clock

(International News Service.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Director General of Railroads Walker D. Hines met the railroad brotherhood leaders at 11 o'clock today and presented to them a statement of policy concerning their wage increase demands, which was understood to be in general a rejection of the demands, but proposed three alternative propositions which he outlined as a basis for ultimate settlement of the men's grievances.

Director General Hines announced that a complete statement of his attitude would not be made public until later in the day as it would be susceptible to possible material changes, and acceptance or rejection, Mr. Hines explained, of either of the alternatives he had mapped out might place the government position in an entirely different light by the developments of a couple of hours.

HUGH SEALS' DOG WINS FIRST STAKE; TY COBB DETAINED

FORTY SPORTSMEN TAKE PART IN FIELD TRIALS BEING HELD HERE.

With rain threatening, twenty handlers left this morning with their dogs for Wheeler for the second day's event, The Derby, in the Alabama field trials.

Winners in the All-Age yesterday were: Comanche Fritz, owned by Hugh Seals, Birmingham, first; Trixie Healey, owned by P. W. Thornton, Jackson, Miss., second; Gill, owned by Jim Harris, Courtland, third. Judges were: Dr. McPherson, of Montgomery and Col. W. F. Garth, of Huntsville, Field Marshall, D. S. Echols, of Decatur.

Yesterday's trials were the most successful in the history of the club, it was stated on the return of the sportsmen here last night. More than 40 persons followed the dogs through the trials.

It is doubtful that Ty Cobb, famous baseball star, who was expected here, will arrive on account of a subscription stake at Latahatchie, in which Cobb is entered. Field reservations had been made for him.

Among the other prominent sportsmen in attendance are: W. C. Hutchinson, Col. W. F. Garth, of Huntsville; B. A. Schroder, Jack Biddle, Hugh Seals, Jim Jones and Col. T. T. Ashford, of Birmingham; Dr. Booth, of Hartselle; Major D. C. White, John Grant, Austin James, Sykes Terry, L. W. Terry, Jim Alexander, Jim Harris, of Hillsboro-Courtland; J. M. Wakefield, Shelbyville, Ky.; Dr. McPherson, Montgomery; Ray Kay, Birmingham; G. T. Logan and P. W. Long, of Shelbyville, Ky. W. K. Hockwell, of the editorial staff of the American Field, who attended last year's trials, is expected to reach here tonight for the Free-for-All Wednesday. He was delayed on account of conflicting dates. A cordial invitation today was extended to the public by D. S. Echols, vice president of the club and chairman of local arrangements, to attend the Free-for-All, considered the best event on the program, Wednesday.

Get Morgan County Out of the MudVOTE FOR THE GOOD ROADS BOND ISSUE*THE STICKING CAPACITY OF MORGAN COUNTY MUD

Just as an eye-opener to the sticking qualities of Morgan county mud, the Daily is printing a news story today that chronicles the adventures of a 5-ton Packard truck whose owner was so fool-hardy as to attempt to drive south to Birmingham. For two whole days and nights this valuable truck remained glued to Morgan county soil and was only extricated from the morass into which it had fallen by the use of a stump puller. But for a bit of native ingenuity the big car might be in that mud hole yet.

This is just one argument in favor of voting the good roads amendment on February 16. It is another reason why automobile owners will pay for the road bonds with a smile. The value of every motor car is enhanced fifty per cent by the construction of first-class highways. And this does not take into consideration the reduced bill for up-keep and repairs.

Bituminous coal operators have submitted to the commission appointed by President Wilson to adjust differences between the operators and miners statistics purporting to show that the 14 per cent increase in wages already allowed had reduced the profits of the barons to a bare one per cent. The statement does not especially appeal to the American people, who are aware of the charge made by W. G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, that during the war some of the operators made as much as 1,500 per cent profit.

Leaving a theatre before the final curtain falls is not only a discourtesy to the actors, but also a discourtesy to those who have paid the price of admission and want to get their money's worth. If the practice cannot be stopped in any other way, theatre managers might try closing the doors and announcing that they would not be opened until the show is over.

Southern hogs do not bring the full market price because of poor quality. This is the answer of the U. S. trade commission to the charge of discrimination made by Senator Harris of Georgia. That there is a difference in pork most everyone knows, for its quality depends upon the food that the hog consumes. If the South is to expect full price for its porkers it must look to their diet.

With the British pound sterling now selling for but $3.43 in the American market, there is little wonder that the British press is crying out against the financial domination of the United States. However, the Britishers should remember that America didn't start the world war, that it took no part in impoverishing the nations that did start it, and that but for American intervention British pounds and French francs would be worth less today than German marks.

Little wonder that the price of all wool clothing soars with cotton 40 cents a pound!

THIRD BATH MOST WELCOME

Plunge in Elisha's Spring Necessary to Remove Traces of Jordan and the Dead Sea.

The Jericho region is supplied with three kinds of water, and this prodigality, coupled with the historic fame of the Jordan valley, has furnished a regular formula of bathing for pilgrims to this hot depression, nearly a quarter of a mile below the level of the sea.

Of course, every tourist has to bathe in the Dead sea; it is the thing to do. Lucky is the man whose skin does not crack in the heat of the valley, for Dead sea water on a cracked skin or the film of the eye reminds one of boiling oil and the Spanish inquisition.

Having performed the necessary rite and dutifully completed an experience which can be recorded in the diary of the trip, the poor pilgrim, laved with a tenacious fluid that seems to be composed of salt, kerosene and lye, drives off to the Jordan and seeks relief in the muddy water of that river. Then, as night rapidly settles in the deepest wrinkle on the face of Mother Earth, the tired traveler rides between the miserable hovels which constitute modern Jericho and dismounts at the Sultan's spring, once sweetened by Elisha.

Here the water is collected in a large pool, both cold and clear, and few resist the temptation to plunge into it and remove forever any lingering signs of the holy but muddy waters of the Jordan.

Eskimo Lamp Indispensable.

All the life of the Eskimos may be said to revolve around the family lamp, which makes it possible for them to dwell in an otherwise uninhabitable region. They depend upon it for their very existence. It consists of a shallow, semicircular dish of soapstone, with a wick of fat-saturated moss. It derives its oil from drippings of a piece of seal blubber suspended near the flame. Above the lamp is hung a pot for cooking, and above that is a network of thongs containing articles of clothing put there to dry in the ascending warm air. The lamp gives a brilliant and beautiful light; it cooks the food, it dries the clothes, it heats the house and, not the least important, it melts the snow for drinking water. The lamp is the recognized property of the woman head of the family, and when she dies it is buried with her.

"Nourish your body thoughtfully, and it will sustain your thought."

A Nurse on visiting the parent of underweight children always begins by asking questions:

Nurse—What does your child eat for breakfast?

Mother—Why, usually he has a cup of coffee, but really the child is so rushed he swallows that hurriedly, grabs his cap and runs.

N.—Mrs. S. Please let me suggest; since Willie is under weight that you insist on his eating for breakfast a cup of cocoa, oat meal, toast and an egg.

M.—Willie seems so well, I hardly care to say anything to him.

N.—Does he take a lunch?

M.—No.

N.—Don't you think it would be well, for his physical welfare that you have him take a lunch, say—sandwiches of peanut butter and a little fruit. What does he usually have for dinner?

M.—Fried Steak and bread.

N.—Again, let me suggest. Give Willie for his dinner or supper, milk, baked potato, spinach, prunes, cookies. Now this is suggesting a better way of nourishing a boy.

With this the Nurse launched into a dissertation on proper eating. For the rest of this practical suggestion, attend the clinic to be given at the Albany High School Wednesday afternoon at two-thirty, when an exhibit of proper foods and the amount to be given will be shown by Miss Harrison, under the direction of Dr. Hen Dec Smith. Of course, mothers of underweight children will attend.

AMUSEMENTS

EDNA GOODRICH IN "SLEEPING PARTNERS"

"Sleeping Partners" with beautiful Edna Goodrich, herself, in the leading female role, will be the attraction at the Princess Theatre Saturday night, Feb. 7.

The play is a comedy of the Paris boulevard, telling the story of the misadventure of a radiant Parisienne and her wayward husband, and relating how a sophisticated American saves both from the penalty of their folly. Edna Goodrich as the French wife is dazzling, alluring and becomingly coy.

Miss Goodrich has been seen here in pictures and as leading woman and co-star with Nat C. Goodwin. In her present role she will wear what are promised to be some of the handsomest Lucille gowns ever seen on the American stage.

Sleeping Partners with Miss Goodrich will be seen here exactly as presented during its long and successful run at the Bijou Theatre, New York.

HONOR MEMORY OF WOMEN

Many Places of Prominence Named for Distinguished Members of the Weaker Sex.

Many geographical names have been given places to honor the memory of women. Thus it is that Elizabeth, N. J., was named to honor one of England's queens, while Virginia was named to honor the virgin monarch. Maryland preserves the name of the queen of Charles I. The Naval academy at Annapolis does honor to Queen Anne.

The English were particularly generous in conferring names of women on places. In Australia the late Queen Victoria is honored in two provinces, Queensland and Victoria, while the most beautiful city in that commonwealth, Adelaide, was named in memory of the queen of William IV of England. The province of Alberta, in Canada, was named for Princess Louise Alberta, daughter of Queen Victoria, and wife of the marquis of Lorne, who was governor-general of Canada in 1882. The largest lake in Africa is Victoria Nyanza, and Victoria falls were named for Queen Victoria, as was also the capital of the province of British Columbia, Canada.

The island of St. Helena was named after the mother of Constantine the Great, who also gave name to her birthplace, Helenopolis. The French were especially prone to honor the holy women of their race, and Sault Ste. Marie and other points in Canada, first pierced by French priests, blaze their trail across the continent.

Putting Pest Damage to Profit.

Every one who has a garden detests a mole—every one, perhaps, but a certain woman gardener out in Bryan county, Okla. This ingenious person, who reported her experience to the United States department of agriculture, puts them to work. A number of these pests undermined her garden, digging diminutive tunnels here, there, and everywhere. It would have discouraged the average woman; it didn't disturb this one. She started a little irrigation plant of her own, using its tunnels as irrigation ditches. She filled the tunnels with water repeatedly, until the garden was well watered, and finally drove the moles off the premises.

Origin of Sand.

It is calculated that nine-tenths of the coasts of the world are covered with sand. What is the origin of this sand and to what circumstances is its abundance due? Men of science, says the New York Sun, have explained this in part by saying that it is due to the erosive effect of the waves upon the rocks, but it is generally admitted that this is not sufficient to account for the vast quantity of sand that borders our beaches. Undoubtedly a very considerable portion represents the material carried to and toward the ocean by the storms and glaciers of the ice age.

Pennsylvania's Bituminous Mines.

According to D. H. Downey, of Pennsylvania the greatest number at one time of bituminous mines employing ten men or more underground was 2,000. There were in 1918 probably as many as 2,000 small temporary workings, but the aggregate production of these small operations was less than one per cent of the whole output.

the "established relations" of life. Obedience was next insisted upon, of the implicit variety, such as, the speaker said the storied boy "on the burning deck" possessed.

"Portions of that old poem were recited, showing where the heroic boy waited in vain for the voice of his drowned father, to give him leave to quit the burning deck. Third, absolute trust in God was stressed.

"Some times, all I could do during the horrible war was to just trust in God. I could only feel that He would not allow the destruction of civilization and all of liberty that we hold dear. I could only feel like the little girl, who slept quietly while all the passengers on the ship were in panic, during a great storm at sea. She said 'My father is the captain and he is at the wheel.' The speaker also stressed the importance of forgiveness in human affairs and the power of prevailing prayer.

Fatherhood of God.

Said the preacher in opening: "I want to speak to you from this text on the most beautiful doctrine of the Bible, the fatherhood of God—'Our Father who art in Heaven.' The fatherhood of God is mentioned more than 40 times in the Bible. It had its roots, so to speak, in the Old Testament, in Micah, Isaiah, Amos, Hosea, Malachi, and especially in the 103rd Psalm. 'Like as a father pitieth his children,' says the Psalmist. But no where is the fatherhood of God, the beautiful doctrine it is in the hands of Jesus.

"Theologically speaking," Dr. Williams said, "the Greeks taught a fatherhood of God, but that theology meant a physical descent from the gods on Mt. Olympus."

He declared that Alexander the Great said: "God is the father of all, especially of the good." The speaker disparaged the too liberal idea that God was the universal spiritual father of all. He said that "Creatorship" and "Fatherhood" were not synonymous terms. He said that while God created the lilies of the fields, He could not be spoken of as their father, an don the same grounds, he held, that God's creation of the lower animals did not make him their father. He declared that God as revealed by Christ, was only a Potential Father and a spiritual father, and that all who wished to sustain such relations to God, must do so of their own free will and accord.

Moral Likeness to God

The speaker held that the crude, anthropomorphic conceptions of God were inadequate, but that never should the personality of God be denied. "God is a person just as any one else is a person," said the speaker. He then proceeded to take issue with the so-called scientists who professed belief in God as only a "Tendency," and repeated the alleged prayer of Sir Henry Smith to his god of "Tendency." "Oh thou, glorious stream of tendency, which out of the jelly fish has made such folks as we."

The speaker said that nothing out of a personal God, would satisfy the despairing mother, or any one else who felt a real need. It was affirmed that the God of the Bible, "loves," "protects," "makes provision" and "hears the prayers of faith." It was also shown that a spiritual conception of God, carries with it moral qualities and obligations, and required character development in accordance with the revealed character of God himself. It was shown that nothing short of perfection, "even as God is perfect," satisfied the demands of the scriptures.

KUDZU.

By D. J. Burleson, Extension Agriculturist.

Kudzu is a perennial leguminous vine forming long runners which take root at many of the joints. After the plant has occupied the soil more than one year it forms a densely matted growth entirely covering the ground to a depth of two or more feet. It usually reaches a growth sufficiently large to plow under as a green manure crop.

The plant makes no growth in cold weather, yet its perennial nature does not permit of growing a winter crop in rotation. In fact kudzu is not adapted to an ordinary rotation of crops since it should occupy the land for several years. However, there is a place for kudzu on many Alabama farms. Probably its greatest use is found in reclaiming old, "worn out" land, or gullied hill sides. Such land, when successfully set to kudzu, will in four or five years be greatly improved, due to the fact that the dense growth checks washing, and adds large quantities of vegetable matter to the soil.

Kudzu is propagated from rooted cuttings. After the land has been prepared as for corn, rows may be run six to eight feet apart, and the cuttings set in the furrows four to six feet apart. The first year a row of corn may be grown in each middle. The cuttings should be planted in late winter, not later than early March. On poor land it is advisable to apply some manure to the hill to give the plants a start.

Live stock relish kudzu, both as grazing and as hay; but is difficult to cut and handle, on account of the tangling of vines.

After a field has been growing kudzu a few years it may again be put into cultivation, but it requires extra power to plow up the sod. If care is used, enough plants will be left after one cultivated crop, to give a stand the following year. One experiment showed an increase of 80 per cent in the yield of corn, due to a sod of kudzu.

HOW TO CLEAN DAIRY UTENSILS.

Most of the bacteria which gets into milk come from the utensils, such as cans, pails, strainers, coolers and separators, which have not been properly cleaned. The Alabama Extension Service recommends the following method for cleaning the dairy utensils:

1. Rinse in lukewarm water as soon after use as possible.
2. Wash in hot water containing washing power, which will remove grease.
3. Rinse in clean hot water and place in live steam fifteen seconds, drain and place right side up until steam evaporates. On the farm where steam is not available, sunning will give effective results. Drying should not be done with a cloth, but by heating the utensils in steam or an oven sufficiently to evaporate the moisture.
4. Invert in a clean protected place when dry.

How to Keep Baby Smiling and Well

See that the daily functions are regular and normal

YOU can't expect the little ones to be happy and playful when the head feels dull and the stomach bloated. The normal habit of children is to be happy and when you notice them cross and fretful you will usually find constipation is responsible.

Perhaps they have missed that daily function so necessary to comfort and health. Look at the tongue and see if the breath is bad. Watch for belching. These are the tell-tale symptoms of constipation. Tonight give a little of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can buy at any drug store, and it will act in the morning and the troublesome symptoms promptly disappear.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin. Unlike the harsher physics it acts gently and without griping so that while grownups can use it freely it can also be given to a tiny baby with perfect safety. Thousands of American families would not think of being without a bottle in the house for the emergency arises almost daily when it is needed.

In spite of the fact that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, there being over 6 million bottles sold each year, many who need its benefits have not yet used it. If you have not, send your name and address for a free trial bottle to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 511 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

VOTE ALABAMA OUT OF THE MUD

The heaviest tax the farmer pays is the mud tax

No taxes will be levied to pay any part of the bond issue for good roads, either principal or interest. Automobile license fees will pay the entire cost.

Roads or no roads, every auto or motor truck owner knows that he will have to pay his license fee anyway, therefore he had better get his money's worth by voting for the only good roads plan that the future has to offer.

This election for a $25,000,000 bond issue to match Federal funds for good roads represents the only way whereby people of Alabama now in middle life may ever hope to see a great system of highways connecting every county seat in the State in their day.

The whole cost is borne by automobile owners, and not one cent is paid in taxes or otherwise by the man who does not own a motor car.

The use of roads has increased more than 500 per cent in the past twelve years, due to the change in the vehicle used; the motor covering a greater range and distance in a shorter time. Increased population and wealth is following the lines of improved highway construction.

Friends of the Bond issue must not only know all about it themselves, but should also be able to explain the facts to others. It will do no good the day after the election to wish that you had helped.

Longest of All the Arts.

Let it be remembered that though all arts are long, the art of playwriting is the longest. And after years given to the study and practice of it you will find—precisely as in acting, writing, painting, sculpture, music, only more so—that it is never to be fully mastered. Every time you attempt a drama you learn something more about how to do it; and something more—wholesome lesson for vanity—about your own ignorance and limitation. "I have played Hamlet now for 50 years," exclaimed the famous old actor Betterton when somebody told him his performance of that part was perfect. And I believe I have not got to the depths of all its philosophy yet." I began playwriting when I was a child. I have been at it now for not less than 55 years, and I know I have nowhere near got to the depths of all the philosophy of it yet—and, what is more, that I never shall do so. —David Belasco in the Saturday Evening Post.

DRIVE-ORGANIZATION
IN SHOPS PERFECTED

Department, is Named Chairman for the Campaign

The L. & N. shops committee for the relief of the Armenians, as announced in yesterday's Daily, has elected W. H. Wilson, of the Boiler-shop department, as its chairman, and Mr. Wilson is planning for a campaign to the finish among the generous shopmen, sure that they will not turn a deaf ear to the cries of those far away sufferers. This morning Chairman Payne of the County committee has been in conference with committeemen from the shops, and has been "getting" points as well as giving them on how to make the whole drive a grand success.

It has been arranged for General Secretary W. C. Nollau, of the R. R. Y. M. C. A., to speak to the men tomorrow and Mr. Nollau has promised to bring a number of the ladies who have in the past favored the shopmen with musical selections. Chairman Payne is also expected to be present and report on the progress of the campaign throughout the county.

Yesterday at noon was the first of the speeches at the shop gates in behalf of the Armenians and it was delivered by James O. Arroll, of New York in a most forceful manner. He told the men that he understood that they liked a thing straight from the shoulder and squarely over "the plate." In this discourse the speaker "cried aloud and spared not" when he described the revolting crimes that "men" falsely so called of the Turkish faith, had committed against the helpless and innocent.

It was recited how, little girls of less than nine years old were cruelly raped by the savage brutes called Turks. He said that among other things expected of America, was that this country would free from Turkish Harem the 400,000 young women now held in shame by the Turks. The most pathetic appeal of the speaker was when he told of his last moments with a remnant of Armenian soldiers and civilians, and of how, when words would fail them in appeal for help from America, those poor dejected creatures would groan out the letters that make up the word "A-M-E-R-I-C-A."

Speaks at Princess

Through the courtesy of Manager Pixley of the Princess theatre, the Near East sufferers had their claims presented in a stirring manner last night by Mr. Arroll, who according to Chairman Payne, of the Morgan county Near East relief committee who introduced the speaker, is one of the only two young men of America, who stayed by the Armenians throughout the whole seige of war. Mr. Arroll in opening paid a glowing tribute to the constancy and valor of the men of Armenia as soldiers, who when outnumbered 20 to 1, he said, drove a Turkish army backward for over a hundred miles, when for fire arms this little band had only one rifle for every seven soldiers.

"Do you know that a cause is often measured by its weakest link, so to speak, and the Armenian nation was one of the weakest in power of all the Allies, but they were strong in determination; they replied 'no' to the promises of independence by Germany in return for a pass to India, and said 'once an ally always an ally.' The speaker declared that the world war might have drawn on for many months longer and caused the death of many an additional American boy, but for the heroic stand of the Armenian army against the Turkish-German invaders. He then inquired if the great American people would accept the benefits to them from the Armenians, without succoring them in their present dire distress.

In his Princess theatre address as in his appeal to the Louisville and Nashville shopmen, Mr. Arroll carried the deepest conviction. What he said was on the "dead level" and in each instance his hearers realized that they were in the presence of one as though returned from the dead. No more harrowing story was ever told to a Twin City audience than his reference to the famished little girls, whose limbs resembled the tiny bony limbs of a bird more than those of a human being. The speaker said that "the skin had grown on the bones of these little girls that it had actually began to crack away. And their poor little stomachs were all swollen out where they were so sorely irritated and inflamed by the grass and dirt they had eaten in their uneven fight against death. I myself picked up many of these poor little things and as best I could put them in a way of being relieved from a condition which was worse to think of at least, than death itself."

Tells of Atrocities

Said the speaker: "A worse fate awaited those who had grown to young womanhood. I knew of a case of a beautiful refined and cultured Armenian girl, who refused to submit to harem life, all but forced upon her by her Turkish captors. As an example to others this beautiful girl and the corpse of a Turkish soldier lead many days chained to her and she was buried in the earth up to her chin, and chained thus to that body of death."

A heart burning appeal was made to his hearers to know what they would do in case refined virtuous women in Christian America were so outraged.

"It has been 18 months since the armistice was signed; but the Turk, with his army intact, is still in authority over these fallen fellow creatures of ours. There has not been as much as a pen knife taken away from the Turks. The speaker referred to the fact that he had appeared before the Peace Conference at Paris, while it was in full session and told in full all he knew and experienced in connection with his services in the Near East and pleaded for them. And in the same connection, with a touch of deep bitterness on his voice, Mr. Arroll stated that to his certain knowledge, one of the so called great European nations was seeking at the same time to secure a mandatory over the Turks, with the evident purpose of exacting graft from the transaction.

"Oh, they talk about making the world safe for democracy. I tell you I have got so I hate that word 'democracy.' The world has not been as safe for the people of the world, in the Near East and Russia at least as it was in the pre-war days. What we want to do is to make this world safe for Christian men and women, especially women and children."

In this connection, the speaker disclaimed any interest whatsoever, in politics as the term is generally understood, but he called on his hearers to cast their votes in such a manner as to accomplish the most possible for the whole world of humanity.

Athens News

A quiet wedding took place at the Christian church Manse Sunday afternoon, the contracting parties being Miss Inez Taft, one of the young lady assistants in the Farmers and Merchants' Bank, and the groom, Mr. Robert Clem, an employee of Crutcher's Drug Store. Rev. Wears of the Christian church officiated. Only a few intimate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Clem left on the north bound train for Nashville, following the ceremony and will visit several cities before returning home. They are both popular young people.

R. H. Richardson and Wm. Martin of the firm of Martin & Richardson have gone north for goods. They will be absent ten days or more.

Dr. and Mrs. McDaniel returned from New York Saturday.

We are sorry to note Mr. Groundhog saw his shadow, for we had hoped for fair weather, so much needed to do work on Athens streets.

The large garage on North street is fast nearing completion and will add greatly to the looks of this corner. Mr. Delks occupies this garage.

The census completed, Athens will soon know her real size in round numbers.

Alex Atkins and his son-in-law, Harry Christensen, having bought several lots on W. Washington street are beginning improvements on the small houses built on two of the lots and plan to improve them.

Suggestive Hint.

A certain eminent lawyer was appointed head of a government department, and he was anxious that all the members of the staff should work together in unison. He summoned the leading officials, and after delivering an address on the desirability of thorough co-operation, concluded by saying: "Gentlemen, in my profession when a jury disagrees it is discharged, I think I need say no more!"

MOST FAMOUS OF PALACES

Building Constructed by Brunelleschi for Count Pitti is the Glory of Florence, Italy.

No country is richer in beautiful palaces than Italy. In most instances these have now become the property of the nation, so that the taxpayer is indirectly responsible for the general good while preserving their dignity and safeguarding their treasures. Throughout Italy, from Turin to Palermo, these monuments to the genius of the Middle Ages are to be found, but perhaps none is so famous as the Pitti palace at Florence, built upon a hill above the Arno with the beautiful Boboli gardens stretching behind it. Count Pitti, chief magistrate of Florence in the fifteenth century, desiring to outlive Cosimo de' Medici, set himself to build a palace which should be the wonder of Italy. He employed the architect Brunelleschi, whom Cosimo when building his own palace had passed over because of his magnificent disregard for expenditure, and Brunelleschi was given a free hand. Pitti, however, fell into disgrace for plotting against the son of Cosimo and no workman could be found to continue his half-completed palace. Thus for a century it was to remain, until Eleanor of Toledo once more took it in hand and it became—oh, strange irony!—the home of the Medicean grand dukes. The Pitti was not actually finished until 1839. The sight-seer is aware as he wanders through this vast building today, and gazes at its walls lined with five hundred pictures, most of them masterpieces, that he is rather in a royal palace than a picture gallery, and he doubts not the truth of Macchiavelli's verdict, that the Pitti palace "is greater and more splendid than the house of any other private citizen whatsoever."

ALABAMIANS ACTIVE IN WORK FOR NEAR EAST

DR. SEALE HARRIS AND MRS. J. FULLERTON HOOPER IN ACTIVE CHARGE.

DR. SEALE HARRIS, State Chairman.

Birmingham, Ala., January 26, 1920. —(Special)—Hundreds of Alabama citizens are now devoting their time and attention to the work of relieving distress and starvation in the Near East countries, Armenia, Syria, Persia and Palestine. Dr. Seale Harris, well-known physician of Birmingham and Mobile, is state chairman of the Near East Relief, formerly known as the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, and he has enlisted the active co-operation of citizens of every part of the state in raising a fund to help in the work.

The activities of the Alabama organization are based on the number of orphan children to be taken care of by the workers in the field. There are at least a quarter of a million children in these countries who have been made orphans by the massacres of the Turks and by death of soldiers in the Armenian army, which has been fighting "with its back to the wall" for over five years—and is still fighting to keep the Turks from taking absolute possession of this most fertile and productive country.

The Alabama organization has agreed to support 3333 of these orphan children for the coming year, to save them from starvation and the horrors of Turkish slavery. Each county is assuming its quota of these children to look after, through the field workers of the Near East Relief. Many Sunday schools have agreed to take care of one or more of these children. Lodges and business men's organizations are also "adopting" Armenian boys and girls. Hundreds of individuals over the state are doing the same and it is confidently expected that the entire 3333 will be provided for before the campaign closes in February.

The active period of the campaign is from February 1st to 22nd, during which days the teams of workers in each county will canvass the people of that county and secure sufficient funds to assure that not a single one of these little boys and girls, from 3 years to 15 years of age, will starve this year.

MRS. J. FULLERTON HOOPER, Chairman Women's Organizations.

Mrs. J. Fullerton Hooper, of Selma, is chairman of the women's organizations work in Alabama and she has secured the assistance of many of the leading women of the state in the work.

A number of women's clubs have already agreed to "adopt" orphans—that is, to take care of an orphan for one year—and Mrs. Hooper anticipated that many other clubs will do the same before the campaign closes in February.

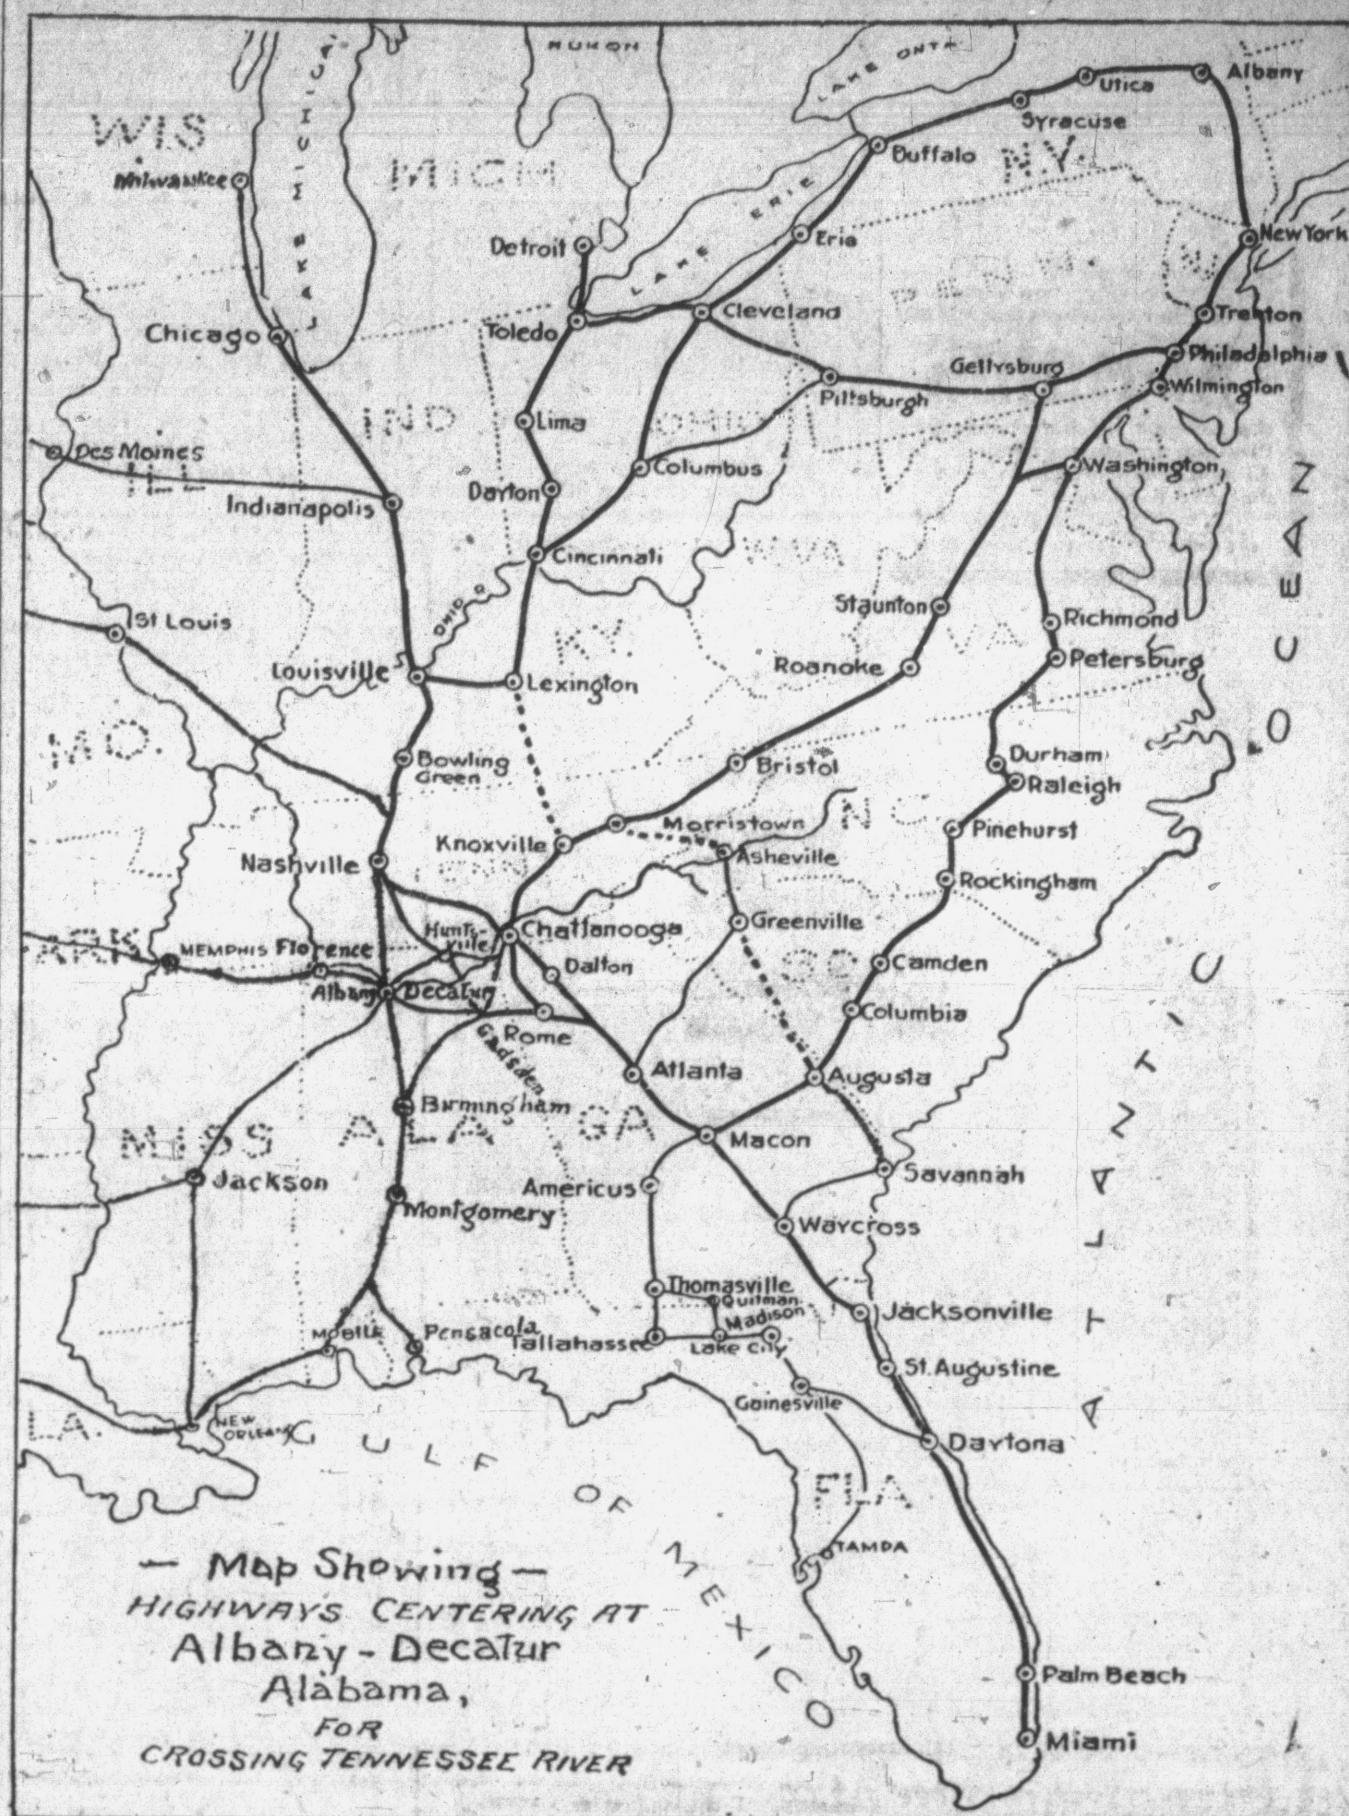

Of the total number of orphans that Alabama will provide for in this campaign, 3333, the women's organizations, through Mrs. Hooper, have agreed to look out for 600 of these children.

Mrs. Hooper is very active in the work and is also actively assisted by Mrs. Nell R. Wallace, assistant chairman, of Birmingham, who is working not only in Birmingham, but is visiting other points in the state as well.

Soldiers Walked on Diamonds.

Two detachments of British troops literally walked on diamonds for a week or so during a trek they made in Southwest Africa during the war days. The march was through a famous gem field and at every halt the Tommies sought for precious stones, many really valuable ones being found.

Suffered With Catarrh, Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble.

"I think Number 40 or The Blood, as a blood purifier, has no equal. When I began to take Number 40, I was in very poor health, as I had Rheumatism, catarrh, stomach Trouble, Lead Poisoning, and an Itch that I had tried almost every known remedy to relieve. I have taken six bottles of 'Number 40' and am on a fast road to recovery. I owe my life to it, as I use to weigh 127 pounds and now weigh 148, my usual weight. I could write more but this should be enough to convince the most skeptical, and you are at liberty to use this letter any way you desire." Geo. Klinker, Lima, Ohio.

The ingredients in "Number 40 for The Blood" are set down in the U. S. Dispensatory and other reliable medical books as follows: "Employed in diseases of the glandular system, in blood troubles, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, chronic rheumatism, catarrh, sores, ulcers, skin eruptions, mercurial and lead poisoning. Under its use, scrofulous swellings that have withstood other treatment disappear as if by magic."

The Swift Year Book is Out Send for Your Copy

Swift & Company was a favorite topic of conversation last year.

Committees investigated it, commissions attacked it, law makers threatened it, many condemned it.

Presently people began to think about it; began to realize that Swift & Company was performing a necessary service in a big, efficient way; began to wonder whether it could be done as well in any other way.

Read what Swift & Company did last year, and what it meant to you, in the Swift & Company Year Book just issued.

It's a fascinating narrative—simple facts in simple words. There is one ready for you. Send for it.

Falkville News

FALKVILLE, Ala., Feb. 3. (Special).—Funeral services were held Monday at 2 o'clock for Mrs. Andrew J. Stinson, from the Methodist church, Rev. John Curwile, officiating. Mrs. Stinson was the widow of the late Andrew J. Stinson, who for more than 20 years was postmaster at this place. Mrs. Stinson leaves an only daughter, Mrs. John B. Dismore of Falkville, five sons, Messrs. Luther, Felo, and Waverly Stinson of Birmingham, L. A. Stinson of Falkville, and A. F. Stinson of Falkville. Also two brothers, Messrs. Dan and F. H. Cook of Falkville.

Matters are taking definite shape for the $50,000 school building here. The location has been secured, and committees are actively at work. It is the plan to take an inventory of the taxable property embracing the school district, and from the books of the tax-assessor, arrive at the amount of revenue which would be derived therefrom. Then an election will be called to levy a special three mill school tax to help take care of the bonds. Under the law the state will pay one-third.

The school needs have outgrown the present accommodations, and the plan is to take care of the present and future needs as well, in the building under consideration.

The building will be of brick, and thoroughly modern in every respect. A great deal of enthusiasm marks the project, and it is not anticipated that any real resistance to the plan will mature.

The two days sunshine last Saturday and Sunday have made it possible to apply the road drags on the roads of this section, and today they were industriously at work smoothing up the surfaces, and filling up the bad ruts made by travel during the past 10 days of bad weather. With two more days of fair weather the roads will be passable again.

Just Got Over a Cold?

Look out for kidney troubles and backache. Colds overtax the kidneys and often leave them weak. For weak kidneys—well, read what an Albany man says:

J. W. Ezell, Prop., grocery, 1301 4th Ave., says: "Some years ago my kidneys became affected, I believe from a cold and sharp pains often took me in the small of my back. When I stopped or lifted anything, I would get sudden twinges through my kidneys and I couldn't rest comfortably at night. Mornings I arose unrefreshed and was usually tired. I had headaches, dizzy spells and spots continually passed before my eyes. I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box and used them as directed. They relieved me immediately. Two boxes entirely cured me of this trouble."

Above statement given April 28, 1911, and on February 28, 1918, Mr. Ezell, says: "I have had no return of kidney trouble since taking Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago and I cheerfully confirm the statement I gave Doan's at that time."

STELLA VITAE For WOMEN

Mrs. Paralee Frazier, Longview, Tex., said of STELLA VITAE: "I cannot say too much for this wonderful medicine. I had taken other female medicines for two years with no good results. I am truly grateful for STELLA VITAE."

Mrs. J. F. Lee, Milstead, Ga., had female complaint for years. "Three bottles of STELLA VITAE cured her, she said, and added, 'I am certainly thankful for this great female tonic.'"

A Friend Indeed

By RHODA WORTHINGTON

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union.)

"I cannot take your case, Mr. Boyd."

Wilton Brice was definite in tone and face as he spoke, but there was a tremor to his frame. He was by no means friendly with his caller, Percival Boyd, but that was not the reason that he had refused to act as his attorney.

The letter was the prosperous manufacturer of a patent scale which was making him a fortune. Its inventor was Andrew Mayhew, who had sold or had been co-owner of an interest in the same by the father of Boyd now deceased. More latterly Mayhew had devised a new scale, which was so superior to the Boyd possession that there could be little doubt as to its eventually outdistancing its competitor.

Only a month previous Brice had met Mr. Mayhew, and the old inventor had asked him to come to his home in a professional capacity. There Mr. Mayhew had gone over the details of his experience with the Boyd people had asked Brice to look over his new patent papers and advise him as to the best course to pursue.

"I think young Boyd is trying to block my way," said Mr. Mayhew. "He told me the other day that he had a document given to his father years ago and signed by myself, in which I agreed never again to engage in the scale business, and if I ever did, or made any new inventions in the line, I was to agree to turn the same over to him on a ten per cent royalty. This is not true, Mr. Brice, declared the old inventor with unmistakable sincerity. 'I never signed such a paper.'

At the Mayhew home for the first time Brice met Anice, the old man's daughter. It was not the last time, however. She was a girl likely to attract any man admiring modesty, innocence and intelligence, and Brice fell strongly in love with her. Now, when the menace Mayhew feared appeared, Brice was naturally disturbed at the charge made against the father of the girl, whose fondest ambitions were involved in getting a new start in the world.

"Tell you, Brice," spoke Boyd smartly, "I think you are making a mistake. I do not wish to oppress Mayhew, but I don't intend to lose my rights. I had rather employ a local lawyer like yourself, who might influence a fellow townsman, than our regular firm in the city. I have decided that if you will not handle the case I shall give it into their hands," and Boyd took an addressed, stamped envelope from his pocket and with drew its inclosed sheet. "There is the contract," he continued; "read it for yourself."

"As I have said, I cannot be your attorney in the premises," he spoke. "And why not?" demanded Boyd sharply.

"Because the copy Mr. Mayhew showed me does not contain the clause in your own."

"Erasures are easy and convenient at times," sneered Boyd.

"No more so than the filling in of a blank space," retorted Brice quickly. "I believe in Mr. Mayhew's statement and will not take a case where I am convinced the prospective client is in the wrong."

"Indeed!" snapped Boyd resentfully. "You weren't so careful in defending the man who just left the room, Jerry Plympton, who is a professional criminal."

"But who was innocent of the special charge I defended, and that is why I won the case."

"My retainer fee would be a thousand dollars," insinuated Boyd speciously. "Think a moment. I will not hesitate to spend money in winning this case." He lifted the flap of the envelope toward his lips. "Once I seal this letter and post it your chance is gone."

Brice coolly shrugged his shoulders and with a muttered imprecation Boyd sealed the envelope and left the room. Brice arose and went into the anteroom. His client, Jerry Plympton, had strangely departed. He did not put in any further appearance that day, but as Brice that evening rather gloomily started on the way to visit Mr. Mayhew and report what threatened, Jerry almost ran into him coming around the corner.

"Hello!" hailed Brice. "Where away?"

"New fields, where I can keep honest, Mr. Brice," reported Jerry spicily. "I think I had better, for I was tempted into our last dangerous act here. I overheard that Boyd had threatened you and I followed him. He mailed that letter. Well, I took my cue. I waited till he was out of sight, poked a few lighted matches into the mail box, waited till things smoked—and that fake contract will never trouble your good old client again."

It never did. Jerry had flitted for the railroad depot before Brice could impress him with the enormity of his offense.

Andrew Mayhew went on with his business arrangements undisturbed, and all Brice had hoped for his success came about in due time, as also the precious love of the one girl in the world he adored.

Dreaming of Cats.

With the exception of black ones, it is said that to dream of cats is unlucky. If the animals scratch, the dreamer must beware of a rival in love. To dream of chasing a cat means disappointment over something.

Had Barnums in These Days.

The love of monstrosities, which are usually mere freaks of nature, is still common; but it would appear to have been more popular in the good old times. In the year 1742 crowds frequented the Mitre, Charing Cross, London, to view "the largest Thames monster, or miraculous man-eater, that was ever in the world. As a boy was washing his mop this surprising monster caught hold of it in his mouth, and had very like pull the boy into the river, but he calling out for help, several men came to his assistance, with great difficulty dragged this monster out, and he lived four hours after on shore."

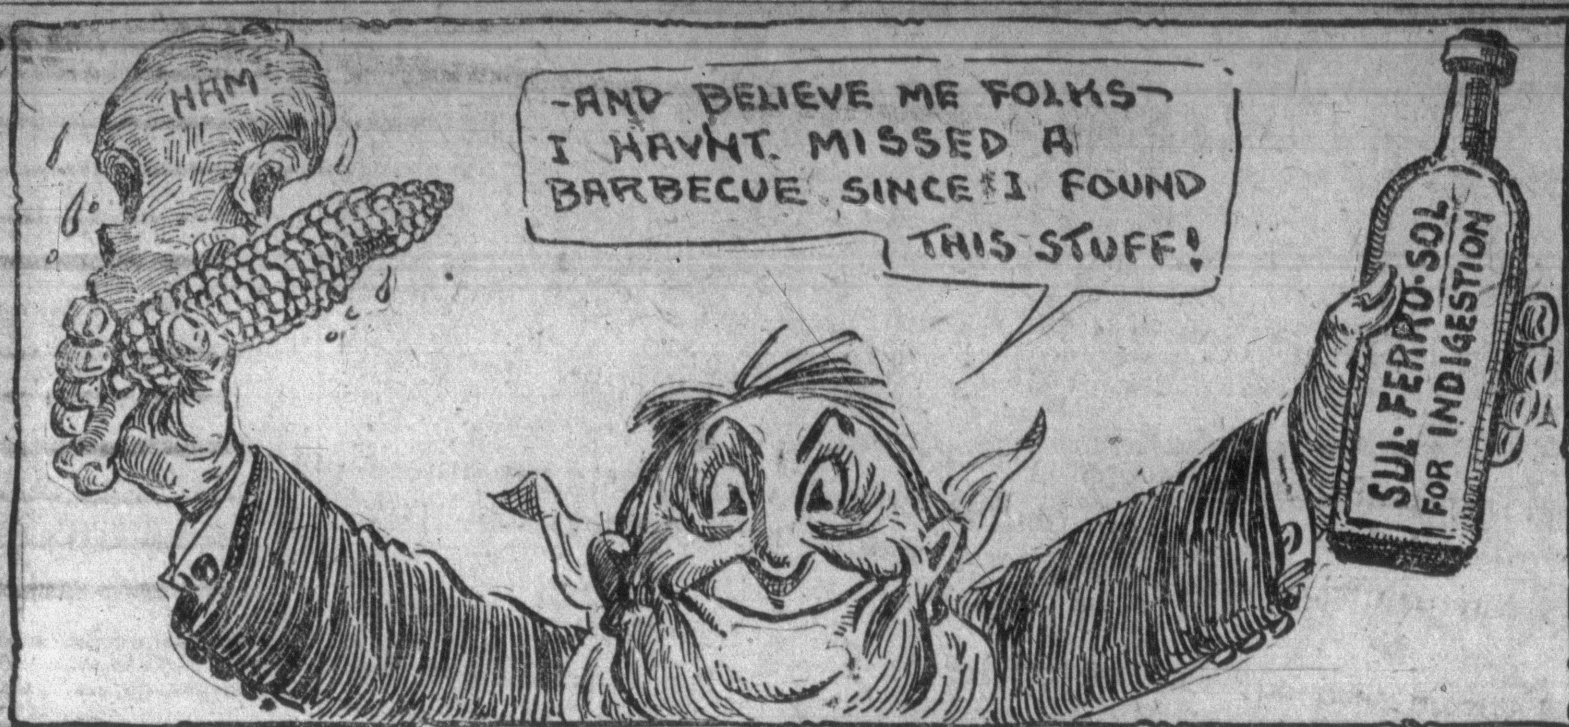

Whale Oil From Swordfish.

The heads of 100 average swordfish will yield 65 gallons of an oil that has high market value. Refined and bleached, it is indistinguishable from whale oil, and commands the same price. In fact, commercially, it is whale oil.

Whale oil is obtained on a much larger scale from halibut heads, which are treated in the same way as the swordfish heads—cooked to a pulp with steam and pressed. A short ton of them will yield 40 gallons of oil. Boston and Gloucester, Mass., annually produce 12,000 gallons.

Religion In a Dream.

To dream that you are taking part in a service in church with a large congregation is said to foretell riches late in life. But if the attendance is thin, beware, they say, of slander!
